

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A device and a method for controlling a position of a lateral edge of a continuous web of a recording medium in a printer or copier provides that sensors are provided. Signals of the sensors are supplied to a control device which includes an actuator. The actuator changes 5 the position of the lateral edge of the web.